

9-29-1938

Bulloch Times (Statesboro News-Statesboro Eagle)

Notes

Condition varies. Some pages missing or in poor condition.

Originals provided for filming by the publisher.

Gift of Statesboro Herald and the Bulloch County Historical Society.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues>

---

Recommended Citation

"Bulloch Times (Statesboro News-Statesboro Eagle)" (1938). Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues). 1917.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues/1917>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Bulloch County Historical Newspapers at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues) by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

BULLOCH TIMES AND STATESBORO NEWS

Subscription $2.00 PER YEAR

D. B. TURNER, Editor and Owner.

Entered as second-class matter March 18, 1905, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

CARDS OF THANKS

The charges for publishing cards of thanks and obituaries are one cent per word, with 50 cents as a minimum. Cards will be published without charge with copy. No card or obituary will be published without the cash in advance.

HORSE VS. MULE SENSE

Every once in a while we find somebody seeking to pay a compliment to an individual by ascribing to that individual a measure of "horse sense."

Since it is proper always to consider the motive in accepting comparison, it is customary to feel that one so spoken of has been complimented.

On the reverse is the unfavorable appraisal which compares an individual to a mule. Right away the man so spoken of knows he has been insulted.

But if you take the horse and mule and man together and analyze each, you'll decide that the fancy and brilliant qualities of a horse are more than offset by the sturdiness and reliability of a mule. And you'll decide, we believe, that the mule is like a mule, the more he is worth to his community as a general thing.

Take for instance, the way a mule pulls his load: Whether it's lack of sense, or merely a spirit of service which impels him, the mule rarely ever rears back with his load. Now, in our earliest youth there was old Fanny, the family nag, vicious and uncontrollable. Many times she chafed out of the lot when we went to place the bridle on her—even when we only planned to carry her to pasture. Often with only a half load on her, she'd run backward all over the woods, fall over stumps, skin herself from end to end, and there was no apparent reason for her conduct. She wasn't overladen, she wouldn't have run around with the load as if it was a mere feather. One day one of those contrary spells struck her as she was about to ascend a small hill after crossing a bridge. She decided suddenly to come back down to bottom. Logan McLean, honored and beloved citizen of Statesboro in the years long gone by, was employed on the little Florida farm and sat astride old Fanny when she came down the hill backward. He didn't have time to jump, and the whole load ran off the little bridge and fell into a ravine some distance deep beneath the bridge. Old Fanny looked surprised; she trembled like a wet dog; men came with shovels and dug down the walls and helped her out. After a few days she was back between the shafts, and balking again. We'll say for her credit that she didn't rear up on her hind legs, however, and no load could have ever held her back. That may have been an evidence of sense—we always suspected it was pure "cussedness." That's what impels men many times.

But there was the matter of feeding, in which old Fanny was at her worst. Indeed, no horse we ever saw could be trusted with a bushel of oats. Any mule can be so trusted. A mule eats what he wants and walks away; a horse eats all he is in sight, and calls for a doctor—just like a man.

There was this one time we have in mind about old Fanny. The father drove a yoke of oxen to Tampa and carried a party of "Yankees" who were desirous of taking the train for their home back north. They had more baggage than could be carried on the spring wagon, and it was the duty of this youth to carry the baggage in a cart, riding old Fanny's back. The oxen were slow, and it required almost two days to drive to Tampa, 30 miles. It was necessary to spend one night in Tampa. The oxen and old Fanny were placed in a yard. Feed was bought for them for the night and next day. On the morning set for the return, it was discovered that old Fanny had opened the crib door (maybe it was sense which enabled her to do that), and had devoured more than a bushel of oats. (We doubt if that was sense!) Again she stood strutting and trembling like a leaf—she was so full of oats that it was late in the afternoon before she could be taken out of the Hillsboro river and again set on the road facing home.

Somehow, we have been impressed that it is no particular compliment to either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

HAY-FEVER SEASON

There is something to be said for the man who is arrested for going through a red light and gave as his excuse a sneeze. The judge released him, and it is our opinion that his honor might have been a hay-fever victim and could appreciate anything dealing with a sneeze. Hay-fever sufferers, and if you don't know, hay fever is a disease which meets with as it has awaited this period with dread—and nose tissues. One might imagine the early and heavy rains had eased the situation and lessened the spreading of fatal pollen. Maybe they did, but they also helped a lot more weeds to thrive to harass the sniffers. One mid-western paper carries a "hay-fever count" to indicate the amount of pollen in the air, measured every 24 hours according to the contents per cubic yard. There are articles on the market which are aids, and various serums which have proved effective in some cases. There are various folk who seek more favorable climate and others who have rooms where the air is filtered. But there still remains the fellow who continues to wheeze and blow. Our sympathy to the hay-fever victim, and we wish it was possible to rid the country of ragweed, or whatever it is that causes this condition. Incidentally, we wonder if the malady is attributed to ragweed merely because every sufferer must carry a rag for his nose?

South Africa will have government control of the sale of agricultural products.

A Polish-Egyptian chamber of commerce has been inaugurated in Warsaw, Poland.

Cars nearly 40 years old clanked along in an automobile parade in Dublin, Ireland, recently.

Our idea of a regular Democrat is one who is still carrying an Al Smith sticker on his windshield.

Japan has issued picture post cards to commemorate the first anniversary of the campaign in China.

The government of Costa Rica is trying to keep the price of rice within reach of the laboring classes.

The world may owe a man a living, but that doesn't mean he should expect the grocery man to provide it.

The good book tells us to love our enemies, but it would help a lot if it would explain an easy way of doing it.

No message is worth listening to if a man has to grab you by the lapels of your coat when he goes to deliver it.

Domestic life in a nudist colony is said to be more peaceful than elsewhere. The wife never seeks to wear the husband's pants.

One of our philosophical friends says that before 1930 we lived in the horse and buggy days and now we live in just the buggy days.

The old-fashioned woman used to have a difficult time balancing the budget but it wasn't nearly as difficult as balancing the budget is nowadays.

To conserve gasoline, drivers of all kinds of gasoline vehicles in Japan are urged by the government to coast on down grades or wherever possible.

Sark, an island in the English Channel, refuses to desert its language, a form of old Norman-French, which is understood by only 500 people.

Because of the many accidents in London's Rotten Row for horsemen, a plan has been proposed to grade the road, banning C3 riders from A1 horses.

The automobile companies are preparing to put out a big supply of 1939 models just as though they were expecting another bonus payment next year.

Air did double duty when, as thousands in Leicester, England, watched, a bombing plane caught fire and a gust of wind extinguished the flames enveloping the machine just as the pilot prepared to jump.

Since the Kellogg anti-war pact was signed ten years ago it is estimated that 2,500,000 people have been killed in warfare. These international agreements are great things for decorative purposes.

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

NEWS OF THE WEEK OVER THE NATION

Happenings That Affect Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of People.

The business outlook, so far as the domestic picture is concerned, remains good. If only our own internal problems were involved, it seems evident that this recovery movement would continue, at least for the next six or eight months, and that security prices would tend upward accordingly. However, there is an extremely large fly in the ointment—the European situation. That was vividly demonstrated in the week ending September 10th. Industrial statistics were encouraging, there were no untoward signs of political complications, and the stage was set for a sustained rise in security prices. But prices sagged, and the week as a whole was disappointing on all counts—principally because of the fear of war.

It seems unlikely that this fear can be dissipated in the near future. Even if war does not occur before the end of this year—and, according to the experts, the chances are better than even that it will—the shadow of Mars will still darken the economic skies. Thus, it is to Europe, rather than to this country, that the student must look principally for guidance in anticipating what will happen to industry and to security values during the remainder of 1938.

For getting the war problem for the moment, the figures indicate that the "recession" is definitely on the wane. No one looks for even anything resembling a boom such as that occurring at the end of 1926, which ran half way through 1927 and exploded. The expectation is for a steady, non-dramatic betterment in practically every line of industry and commerce. Here is the situation obtaining on a number of basic lines now.

Steel: Recently touched 44 per cent of capacity—about twice the level obtained in early July. During eight of nine consecutive weeks, for which this column has data, improvement was registered.

Automobiles: Recently hit its low production point of the year, which is entirely normal, as it will not be long until the new models begin streaming off the assembly lines. By the time this is read, production should be at a good level, and increasing rapidly. Reports of what the new cars will be like are conflicting. It has been generally reported that there will be little change in most makes; more recently, rumor says that manufacturers are now planning more ambitious experiments and improvements.

Construction: Non-residential building is still down. Residential building, on the other hand, is well up, and is rising. In August, this kind of construction was 18 per cent above last year. Big factor is the government-insured long-term loan plan, under which a builder may obtain as much as 80 per cent of his house cost to pay it off.

Electric Power: This reliable barometer of industrial affairs in general shows strength. The summer decline was not more than seasonal. And the fall and winter outlook is good.

Railroads: Carloadings have been a little, but not enough to keep scores of lines out of the red. The industry is tied up in wage negotiations, which have been complicated by the brotherhoods' refusal to accept federal mediation of the management's request for a general 15 per cent wage cut. A great deal of pressure is being brought from many quarters to have congress take up legislation to save the industry, as soon as the next session opens.

Summing up, sentiment as a whole is now bullish. But keep your eye on Europe—what happens there could change the outlook tremendously overnight.

Hitler and Goering made big news with the speech at Nuremberg, in which they deduced the world and as such served notice on other powers that they plan to go ahead with their plans regarding Czechoslovakia. Bigger news, which was not anticipated, was made by England. Apparently the Chamberlain government has been forced to abandon its peace-at-any-price policy. England has gone far enough—and she will fight on the side of France if Czechoslovakia is invaded. That is what Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson told German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop in a historic conference in Berlin.

To many, it seems that war is now inevitable—and that it will start soon. No unprejudiced authority, military or economic, thinks the Nazis, even if they ally with the fascists, can win. But the mass apparently think otherwise. That's what makes war.

German plans are said to call for a quick conquest of the Czechs—within 14 days at the outside—before France, England and Russia can move enough troops and supplies to deter them from the conquest. But military experts think the Czechs could hold out for several months without any aid whatsoever.

When You Feel Sluggish (Continued)

Take a dose of Black-Draught. Feed fresh for a good day's work.

It seems easier, life pleasanter, when you are really well—free from the bad feelings and dullness often attending constipation.

For nearly a century, Black-Draught has helped to bring prompt, refreshing relief from constipation. Thousands of men and women rely on it.

BLACK-DRAUGHT A GOOD LAXATIVE

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

Locusts in North Africa can now be caught at night in long places, either the horse or man to say that he is like a mule—they are naturally very much alike in their frailties. Now, an ox or a mule can be depended upon!

REJECTS, from page 1

Monday morning the attorneys reviewed their request for the right to study these lists; that right was voted by the committee, and the lists were taken from the boxes in the presence of the committee and the public, whereupon the boxes were again sealed and provided by law.

Plaintiff's attorneys then asked for an extension of twenty-four hours time in which to study the papers and complete the details of their petition, and this was the point on which the matter was finally dismissed.

Opposing attorneys raised the point that the law required detailed specifications of alleged irregularities filed within five days after the election complained of.

During the battle of argument, Attorney Stewart alleged specifically that he had knowledge of twenty-one illegal votes cast in the Statesboro district, and explained that those were names of persons permitted to vote upon certificates issued on the day of election by the county registrars.

He pointed out that the law forbade any person to vote except whose names appeared on the qualified voters' lists. A member of the committee, J. H. Wyatt, propounded the question, "Would not these certificates, signed by the county registrars, constitute supplementary lists, and thus meet the requirement of law?" And this point brought on more or less words of dispute.

In the meantime the George attorneys had moved for a dismissal of the contest on the grounds of non-compliance with the law pertaining to contests. Upon motion the committee retired to the grand jury room and a vote was taken which resulted in a dismissal of the case.

Twenty-four members of the county committee were present. The chairman in open session reported that the vote was 13 for rejection, 5 against rejection, and six not voting.

The resolution taxing the costs to the plaintiff was as follows:

Believing that each and every member of said committee and each and every person appointed by our committee as managers of the election held on September 14, 1938, are honest, upright and intelligent citizens, and that the contest filed by former Governor Eugene Talmadge in his race for senator carries an implication of fraud, and dishonesty or inexcusable ignorance and incompetence.

Be it resolved, by the executive committee of Bulloch county that we resent the charges and insinuations made against the integrity and competency of our fellow citizens and ourselves, and take this means of publicly expressing our resentment.

Be it further resolved, that in our opinion former Governor Talmadge, having occasioned us the inconvenience and loss of time of assembling today to pass judgment on his frivolous and unwarranted charges, and the expenses incurred in this hearing, including the official stenographer's bill.

LIBRARY, from page 1

health, social science, etc. This material may be checked out as other materials are checked out.

The board is anxious that the Bulloch county teachers and other citizens of the county visit the library when they visit Statesboro, and see the worthwhile work carried on there.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Somewhere around 12 million or 15 million girls and boys in the new hair cuts and their necks washed and are heading back to the school house—smelling soapy, but nice and clean and bright.

But we have become to used to big figures on account of the Govt. going into the hole 100 million or 500 million every time you pick up a paper, we maybe do not think 15 million boys and girls is so very large. But if you are the mama in the family, and are making the sandwiches, you will say:

But going to school, it is what this country needs—and every other country, too.

And times should change in how to teach, like styles change in automobiles, etc.

And if I had anything to say about changes in teaching, I would start right there with the 6-year-olds, and would commend teaching. A 6-year-old I would keep it up clear through to the senior in the college. And by doing so, you know the sheep from the goats and the foxes, etc., if you see one.

The best seller, it should be a Soap Yours, with the low down, JO SERRA.

MALLARD BUYS JACK REPLACE LOST ANIMAL

Cap Mallard Jr. has replaced the jack that died last week with another purchased Tennessee Jack. The jack he bought was a Georgia-bred, colored six-year-old, is valued at $1,000. The animal has the ideal coloring, black with a white underbelly and nose, and weighs 900 pounds.

Our 1938 New Improved Double-Geared Center-Drive Power Press

Our 1938 New Improved Double-Geared Center-Drive Power Press is one of the best Engine Power Presses on the market. Write for cuts and full information or better come to our factory and see them in operation.

MARTIN MANUFACTURING CO. FITZGERALD, GA.

(150p4t)

Press with 3 1/2 H. P. Engine on Steel Truck $270.00

Press Mounted on Rubber-Tired Truck $300.00

Press with 5 H. P. Engine on Steel Truck $330.00

Cracker Jack Steel Horse Power Press $140.00

REV. ROSS LYNN AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. Ross Lynn, D. D., president of Thornwell Orphanage, Clinton, S. C., will preach at the Presbyterian church this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is expected.

Methodist Church

10:45 a. m. Church school, J. L. Renfro, general superintendent, with classes for every age group.

11:30 a. m. Morning worship. Pastor, J. H. Williams, will lead the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

7:30 p. m. Epworth League. 8:00 p. m. Evening worship. Sermon by the pastor, At this hour the pastor will discuss hypocrites and hypocrisy generally. He hopes that the general public may hear what he thinks is a timely message.

8:30 p. m. Wednesday prayer meeting. N. H. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH C. M. COALSON, Minister.

10:15 a. m. Sunday school; Dr. H. F. Hook, superintendent.

11:30 a. m. Morning worship. Sermon by the minister. Subject, "A Church Survey."

7:15 p. m. Baptist Training Union; Miss Menza Cunningham, leader of Juniors; Miss Juanita New, leader of Intermediates; Miss Betty McCallum, president of the Senior Union.

8:00 p. m. Evening worship. Sermon subject, "Victorious Life." Special music by choir and men's chorus, Mrs. J. G. Moore, director and organist.

Teachers' and officers' meeting 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

October 9th is Rally Day. Dr. Guy H. Wells will be the speaker. Six hundred people are expected, and $2,500.00 will be raised for the building.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH H. L. SNEED, Pastor.

10:15. Sunday school, Henry Ellis, superintendent.

This is Rally Day in the Sabbath school. There will be regular classes and a special program will be built around the theme, "Taught of the Holy Spirit." The offering for the Sabbath school extension program calls for the establishing of Sabbath schools in communities where there is need of such but no funds to finance the schools. There are approximately 25,000,000 children in the South who are not being taught God's word.

11:30. Morning worship. Sermon by the pastor, after which certain parents will present their infants for dedication to the Lord in baptism. The service will close with the hymn, "The Lord's Prayer."

3:30. Sunday school at Clinton.

6:30. Junior Intermediate League.

7:30. Evening worship. This will be the first service of the revival which will continue through the week, with Rev. C. D. Denny coming Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The hours for the offering of the week will be at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening. All members of churches are especially asked to help with the music. Children are asked to join the Junior choir.

Want Ads

ONE CENT A WORD PER ISSUE

NO AD TAKEN FOR LESS THAN TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A WEEK

BURIAL VAULTS—For the best money can buy, at prices that are right—see BOB HAGAN. (22sep21p)

FOR SALE—Two rollers, 16-inch mill, fast lightness, frame in good condition; cheap. PAUL DENMARK, Route 4, Statesboro. (22sep21p)

FOR SALE—Registered Poland-China hogs, also four-month-old hogs, subject to registration. M. P. MARTIN, Statesboro, Ga. (22sep21p)

FOR SALE—Two farm mules, weighing about 1,000 each, in good condition; bargain for cash. See Ed GENE FUTCH at In-and-Out Filling Station, Statesboro. (22sep21p)

SEED OATS FOR SALE—About 400 bushels Improved Coler's seed oats; 75 per bushel, cheaper in large quantities. J. WALTER DONALDSON, Register, Ga. (22sep21p)

STRAYED—From my place on Friday of last week, yellow steer, light-headed, red point on head, weighing about 400 pounds; will suit suitable reward. LOVIN SMITH, Brooklet. (22sep21p)

FOR RENT—Nice furnished room, well located, near to both school and well lighted, rates reasonable, will accommodate two gentlemen or two ladies. Apply to DAN N. RIGGS, 105 East Main street. (15sep21p)

WANTED—Reliable colored couple with no inebriations; man for general farm work and woman to do general housework, laundry, etc. G. A. Shiver, Moultrie's city clerk. Has a five-year-old, three-legged rabbit that sleeps and eats with his brood of chickens. The rabbit sometimes takes chicken feed away from the hens, sometimes the procedure is reversed.

Quittan, Ga., Sept. 26.—Chickens and o'possums don't mix—that has been demonstrated, but chickens and rabbits have no fear of each other. G. A. Shiver, Moultrie's city clerk. Has a five-year-old, three-legged rabbit that sleeps and eats with his brood of chickens. The rabbit sometimes takes chicken feed away from the hens, sometimes the procedure is reversed.

Enjoy BEAUTIFUL Natural-Looking FALSE TEETH WITHOUT SANDING NO MONEY

DR. W. W. WILSON'S NEW PATENT "WILSON'S" DENTAL METHOD—From impressions taken in your mouth, we will make you a set of beautiful, natural-looking, false teeth. No sanding, no money. Write for details to Dr. W. W. Wilson, 112 North Main street, or write The B. N. Royce Company, 112 North Main street, Cleveland, Ohio. (22sep21p)

WANTED—Woman with a few hours a day to visit my estate and do up four or five rooms. Standing work profitable; goods well liked and preferred; excellent opportunity to make money in a few days. Address locally MRS. L. E. EVEMITT, 112 North Main street, or write The B. N. Royce Company, 112 North Main street, Cleveland, Ohio. (22sep21p)

Press with 3 1/2 H. P. Engine on Steel Truck $270.00

Press Mounted on Rubber-Tired Truck $300.00

Press with 5 H. P. Engine on Steel Truck $330.00

Cracker Jack Steel Horse Power Press $140.00

We also have one or two used presses in good condition, at very attractive prices.

Our 1938 New Improved Double-Geared Center-Drive Power Press

Our 1938 New Improved Double-Geared Center-Drive Power Press is one of the best Engine Power Presses on the market. Write for cuts and full information or better come to our factory and see them in operation.

MARTIN MANUFACTURING CO. FITZGERALD, GA.

(150p4t)

